New building in the very heart of the capital, in immediate vicinity of Kalemegdan Fortress and Congregational church. Building is five storey high, while it has three additional underground levels for garage. During construction only high quality, imported materials were used (ceramics, sanitary ware, parquet, lighting, carpentry). For the purposes of air-conditioning, pipe systems were installed for each level. Video surveillance and intercom available, while each apartment has safety doors. The electrical installation system implies a large number of sockets for computer and telephone equipment, and an optical cable is also introduced into the facility.
