An interesting, multifunctional space within a pre-war building on Dorćol. It has two entrances, from the street and from the building. One part of the space is an apartment with a spacious living room, two bedrooms, bathroom, toilet and kitchen. From the kitchen, through a passage, one can reach the courtyard area/retail space, which consists of two levels. The lower level is the basement, with floor covered with tiles, and the original brick walls. The yard is also covered with tiles, with a remote-operated gate that opens upwards, thus providing two parking spaces in the yard. The space is very specific, attractive, suitable for smaller restaurants, salons, presentation spaces, classic business space, but also for comfortable life.
